Claudia von Werlhof:

WHAT IS MAN DOING - WHAT MOTHER EARTH? THE PLANET IN GROWING DISTRESS...

a) Planetary military dictatorship by ways of “Geo – Engineering“ or actually the destruction of the planet itself?

“The sky is blue”, says somebody. And the inmate of the concentration camp responds: “Could be”, after all he cannot see the sky (cf. same titled book ed. by L. Trallori, 1985). The sky has become visible again for the concentration camps have been cleared. Its blue color however, cannot always be seen. “Chemtrails”, which are artificial clouds created by civil and military aircrafts flying at a high altitude dispersing chemicals and nano-particles containing Barium, Aluminum, and Strontium, pollute the skies around the globe more and more frequently, leaving behind a trail that spreads to a milky white veil within a few hours following the “operation”. The golden sunrays and the blue reflection of the atmosphere can no longer be seen. Subsequently these billions of particles sink to the ground, are inhaled by us, and can be found on plants, in the water, snow, and soil. The result is illness. Our soil, the plants, and the bodies of water get poisoned; light only reaches us through a haze of fine particulates. As the other elements before, the element of air has now also become subject to a systematic and technological attack. Breathing protection will not help those affected. Nano-particles reach everywhere, the inner organs, the blood, the brain, and the heart. After all we do not have an alternative to breathing (cf. M. Murphy 2010).

What does being forced to breathe toxic substances that have been dispersed in the atmosphere around the globe mean for us?

Chemtrails are experiments and “operations” on the way to “Geo-Engineering”, an attempt to subjugate the planet earth as a whole bringing it under mechanical control from the interior, the exterior, and from above (cf. C. Hamilton 2010). This is not being admitted, it is actually being officially denied. (In the meantime genetically modified organisms have been patented in the US, which are immune to the effects of Aluminum, cf. M. Murphy).

“Geo-Engineering” as such is a topic that is actually being discussed in the meanwhile, although not in the light of military projects; on the contrary, the vision of the largest environmental project that would supposedly save the planet from climate change, in particular from global warming, has been created (cf. Politische Ökologie 2010). This has been discussed at the failed climate summit in Copenhagen 2009 and will be officially addressed at the renowned “Royal Society” of London in November 2010.

“Albedo” is one of the measures being publicly discussed in the scope of Geo-Engineering. This term means the whitening of the planet on the ground and especially as a reflecting protective shield far above the earth in order to ward off solar radiation and create a cooling effect (“solar radiation management”). This model includes the artificially created effects of volcanic eruptions that have the potential of cooling off the atmosphere for years as well as the idea of “fertilizing” the oceans in order to combat CO<sub>2</sub> by producing more algae for the absorption of carbon dioxide.

Contrary to comments stating that until now these are mere ideas, parts of these projects have entered an experimental phase that has begun years ago. Nothing is being admitted, nor are those who are impacted by these experiments being asked. This is especially true for the experiments with Chemtrails (cf. C. Haderer/P. Hiess 2005).

“Land or death“... the peasants say, “Tierra o muerte!“ And now: “Heaven or death”, “Cielo o muerte! “?

„O Capitalismo o Pachamama! “, says Evo Morales, Bolivia’s president at a large conference about climate change and the rights of mother earth in 2010: “Either capitalism or mother earth!” And now he can add: “O Geo-Ingeneria o Panchamama”. Either – or....

For, there are other technologies that tamper with the skies as well as with the interior of the earth. Until now however, this has not been a topic for most of the movements against Chemtrails and Geo-Engineering. Artificially created extremely low frequency waves, referred to as ELF waves by HAARP (cf. C. v. Werlhof 2010a), much as those of its Russian counterpart, the “Woodpecker” project, and the American “GWEN-Tower VLF waves” (Bertell 2010, p. 7f) can be pulsed, combining vibrations with the correct resonance of the earth itself which could lead to gigantic “Plasma- and Weather Wars” on the surface of the earth. Not only that, these pulsed waves can be directed deep into the earth, penetrating it, until the vibrations cause gigantic earthquakes, much in the way the effects of telegeodynamics were described by Tesla (Tesla 1935, cit. in Bertell 2010, p.5); as if that was not bad enough, the effect could be strong enough to break open the earth’s mantle, “practically destroying civilization” (Bertell a.a.O., p.4f). “Global electromagnetic weapons” (p.6) could disrupt the electromagnetic field of the earth, responsible for keeping the earth in balance with the sun and the moon. Damage to this balance and to the electromagnetic field could theoretically even result in the earth being sent into the sun or catapulted into space!

Planet earth, a giant laboratory for uncontrollable mega experiments conducted by a group of “Military Alchemists” (and governments cf. Belford-Group 2010) trying to “censor”, “industrialize”, yes, take from us the sweet- and the saltwater, the sea, the air, the sunlight, and the heavens after already having done this with the land; that think themselves to be omnipotent, as from their perspective only their “godfather” is? In accordance with John’s biblical apocalypse they want to now bestow upon us “a new heaven and a new earth”, not meaning a better heaven or a better earth, but rather a destructed heaven and a destructed earth!

So “earth-ionospheric zapping system” essentially means an Earth-Ionospheric-eradication system! (Bertell 2010, p.3) This is what I call “Military-Alchemy”: the supposed possibility of a new creation resulting from destruction! This time it is our atmosphere, and even the planet as a whole...

Unprecedented dreads, the likes of which have never been experienced on earth before...what are we going to call it? How are we going to feel about knowing that the clouds in the skies, severe weather or even an earthquake, a storm or drought, heat or coldness could be manmade? What would it be like, not being able to rely on the knowledge any more that unusual events as well as those that are normal, occur naturally?

The earth’s electromagnetic system, its “order of life”, is being interfered with since the 1970ies by taking influence on it from inside as well as from outside. As a result the earth’s rotation has slowed down causing a wobble of its spin (p.8). These circumstances have made the earth more vulnerable to outside astronomical influences and have increased the chances of an asteroid or a meteorite hitting its surface, setting off a destructive resonance with the potential of even splitting the planet, as predicted by Tesla (ibid.).

The resonance between the earth, sun, and moon could lead to a surge in the sun’s electromagnetic energy, suddenly and violently erupting, destroying life on earth in the process (p.9). Ionospheric heating causes the planet’s protective shield damage and weakness, perforating and intersecting it and therefore disabling it from protecting itself against solar and cosmic radiation, and even destroying it (e.g. the hole in the ozone layer that has not been caused by sprays rather than through nuclear experiments in the atmosphere, by supersonic flights and by aerospace). However, even without disrupting the balance within the solar system the destruction of the earth itself becomes possible, just through the use of huge scalar electromagnetic weapons that will cause disruptions in the electromagnetic fields of the earth as for example the nuclear bomb blasts did, which interfered with the protective magnetic Van Allen Belts around the earth.

Finally an electro-gravitational pulse that happens to disrupt the sun’s and moon’s natural scalar electromagnetic feedback loops could lead to convulsions on earth resulting in a drastic increase in the temperature of the earth's molten core, leading to the eruption of the core itself that breaking through the earth's mantle would cause a planetary volcanic eruption (p.10).

Is it impossible for traditional Geophysics to recognize the huge dangers we face because of ignoring the "alternate" work of Tesla science concerning natural and artificial electromagnetic vibrations?

b) Reasons for Global Warming

Public policy measures to combat global warming downplay the role of Geo-engineering. Especially in the light of the failed Climate Change Conference in Copenhagen 2009, the progression of climate change and global warming are being discussed without considering the causes of it. One of the main reasons for this development is seen in an increase of CO2 emissions by the industrial world. Other causes are not being considered, let alone dealt with. Since it doesn't seem politically possible to agree on measures that would lead to a drastic decrease in CO2 emissions and achieving this is obviously not attainable by negotiation, other counter measures need to be taken. The idea of controlling and dimming the sun's radiation and therefore preventing or minimizing the warming up of the earth was born. Instead of solving the main cause of the problem a bundle of politically viable and "cost effective" technologies was introduced, first of all satisfying the carbon dioxide producers, who this way need not curb their production.

Nobody can be sure though, that these new technologies will work, what risks and side effects they bear, how large the "collateral damage" will be – e.g. in the agrarian sector, for the health and wellbeing of all living creatures, or for planet as a whole. We do not know how they might interfere with the delicate balance that exists on the planet and what possibly dramatic effects an imbalance might have. Until now none of these concerns and questions has been answered with certainty. The only thing that seems to be sure is that once again it will be the global south suffering the most from the effects of Geo-Engineering, as has publically been discussed; there is an even greater risk of drought. The plan however is, to take Geo-Engineering to new heights, making its existence a permanent state on earth without another alternative, to be stopped solely through the punishment of instantaneous heat stroke.

What would a military dictatorship mean, that tried to systematically take control of the whole planet, without an alternative and hence for eternity? How would the planet react?

So far, so bad. And then Rosalie Bertell comes our way with her book "Planet Earth – The Latest Weapon of War". She writes about the reasons for climate change and global warming through the use of Tesla technology that produces artificial electromagnetic waves which systematically heat up the ionosphere. So there are these other causes of global warming, the ionospheric heaters, positioned by the military like HAARP in Alaska, the installation in Puerto Rico, the ones in Russia and northern Europe, and meanwhile possibly also in Australia, China and Japan...In the meanwhile there seem to be more than a dozen of these facilities around the globe. These facilities have been active on a small scale since the 1970ies, have grown and have started collaboration. Officially civilians know little to nothing about these installations.

The growing grids of antennas, as Bertell states, systematically heat the ionosphere, a component of the earth's middle to upper atmosphere. Heating or zapping this part of the atmosphere at an altitude of about 200 km is the main aim of these installations. As in the case of HAARP the buildup takes place with 3.6 million watts (Bertell 2000, p.121), followed by an increase to 10 million watts, so 10 mega watts, later the antenna array has been expanded to radiate power of 1.7 giga- watts (billions of watts) (Bertell 2010, cf. p.3f). The giant beams emitted with such power have the potential to slice through the ionosphere producing long incisions. The main aim however, is to heat the sections of the ionosphere until they bulge to form a "lens" which can reflect the beams back down to earth, directed to destroy a selected target. Freak weather, tsunamis, earthquakes, tornados, blazes, as well as the disruption of communications all over the world could be the effect, causing the crash of airplanes or "friendly fire".

So the question becomes: How much do HAARP and similar installations around the globe contribute to global warming?

Further: There cannot be more artificial and intensified entropy given the release of such tremendous amounts of energy into the atmosphere!

It cannot be a coincidence that Alaska, where HAARP is located, has the highest rate of global warming, a plus of 7 degrees Celsius. The fact that certain areas, especially those located around the North Pole, show a higher degree of warming has kept climatologists busy. The emission of carbon dioxide cannot be the reason, on the contrary.

There has not been an answer to this question; in fact, it has not been posed by anyone before Bertell. The growing Anti-Chemtrail and Anti-Geo-Engineering movements have not shown any signs of connecting their criticism to these questions. A fact is that the experiments in these installations as well as the connectedness amongst them have increased drastically during the last decade. There must be a visible outcome of the effects from these experiments, as seen in the melting of the arctic ice. In fact Bertell states: ...starting in the late 1960's, US and Soviet scientists began a series of joint efforts to warm up the Arctic. By the late 1970's, the US joined in its own weather-modifying ELF signals! (cf. p.1) The Vladivostok Summit 1974 had lead to a joint and secret US-SU agreement about weather engineering operations (L. Ponte 1976, cf. Bertell 2010, p.6).

The objective is to access the natural resources below the Arctic Ocean. The reason is twofold, one being of purely speculative nature and the other the gain of wealth.

These people are therefore gamblers and addicts! They do not stop on their own and their failed attempts do not bring about a change of thinking in them. We can prepare for further catastrophes like the most recent one in the Gulf of Mexico. Yes, Mother Earth and life on her is being sacrificed, just one example are the polar bears.

The mega crime of melting down the North Pole makes Bertell fear a reversing of the Gulf Stream which would inevitably lead to the glaciation of Europe, major flooding of coastal areas and islands, and could even create a polar shift or a total polar reversal (Bertell, 21.6.2010, email).

A global catastrophe of this dimension would probably mean the end of us all. So why do we allow certain people – not meaning "Man" in a general sense – to indulge in such an uncalculated risk, after all there is nothing less at stake than the whole spectrum of life on earth?

On the other hand it is not only about resources, it is also about power. The new technologies hold the promise of unlimited power for those making the decision about their operational application, in case of a global warming this question needs be answered. It is a plenitude of power on a planetary scale, like nothing mankind has faced before. A seduction the influential circles will probably not be able to resist!

So knowing about the impact installations like HAARP have and what the violent outcomes of their operations could be, means that they obviously need to be shut down! For this exact reason and in order to avoid having to take these actions, secret mongering about these installations goes as far as to discredit those demanding more information or even an end to these experiments. Any information that is talked about is being treated as a conspiracy theory and those talking about it are called insane (cf. C. v. Werlhof 2010b). A civilian scientific inquiry about the nature of the installations has not been made until this day.

Bertell's book, however, is the scientific inquiry which was not supposed to progress further. She proves how the existing non nuclear weapons of mass destruction were developed and how they function. Not even today's eco-social movements know about this, let alone the people these technologies will impact!

Probably the warming of the planet and the ionosphere, caused by the operation of HAARP and similar facilities, is greater by a percentage x – and on top of it variable in its shaping! – than through the emission of carbon dioxide alone.

Quantifying the coherences one could probably find good reasons to reject all the attacks coming from the supporters of military Geo-Engineering and that are masked as being measure supporting the environment.

An interesting fact seems to be that even those who don't assume that climate change is due to emission of carbon dioxide – the military does not talk about global warming anyway – still argue the case of Geo-Engineering (C. Hamilton 2010)! This supports my Alchemy-hypothesis, which is about the goal of achieving divine power through a new, utopian dimension, a technological transformation of the planet: its assumed possible recreation through its prior destruction!

Why has nobody made an appeal so far to shut down the military facilities and put an end to the ionosphere zapping experiment? In this way it would be possible to soon realize what the actual cause of global warming is, who or which factors contribute the most. All this without large studies, which today's civilian science is not capable of anyway.

The military itself seems to be taboo. No movement, not even the peace movement, has tangled with it. It is excluded from debate officially as well as unofficially. Should this status quo be maintained even when it can cost us – and now even the planet as a whole is affected – our lives?

Do we all find ourselves to be in a madhouse meanwhile?

c) Where do we belong: On the side of the so called dominators of nature or on that of nature, on the side of wannabe masters over the planet or on that of the planet, our vital “Mother Earth”, itself?

First of all there is a need for a few questions:

Was does it mean for us, if the general assumption of a natural order doesn't apply to all phenomena anymore and it becomes obvious that the normality of this order is breaking down, so that we cannot rely, as we have done so far, on nature, and we cannot be at home in nature's bosom any more? What kind of a deep shock would this be, one never experienced before by mankind on a global scale? What unfathomable horror, what great despair, fear and bewilderment, what great distrust, anger and hatred would be triggered? And: Whose interest would such a gigantic psychological crisis of mankind serve?

There are 3 ways of dealing with these new and always more emerging small and large scale, as well as the catastrophic, alleged natural phenomena around us:

- a) One puts up a brave front thinking that this is a natural reaction that needs to be accepted, since, after all, it has been us causing the damage through the emission of too much carbon dioxide. It was clear that we were to expect this answer. There really is no point in blaming this on nature (e.g.: the volcanic eruption in Iceland, the heat wave during the summer of 2010).
- b) One believes that the earth is evolving to a higher level naturally and there is the need to attain a higher level of consciousness oneself in order to survive the new challenges. (The esoteric variation that has been introduced into the debate for some time already, as if there were a kind of “autoalchemy” of the earth, as in a part of the Mayan 2012 prophecy).
- c) One believes in the necessity to slowly begin implementing new ways to dominate nature, to finally protect ourselves from “evil” nature, even when we see ourselves as being responsible for the disaster. We cannot or don't want to limit our influence, be it politically or technologically, be it short term or long term, let alone reverse it. This is probably the longstanding consequence of a) and b). This is the reaction the Geo-Engineering circles, namely the military, have been waiting for. It recommends itself as being the solution for a problem in which the root cause will not be eliminated, like exorcising the devil with the devil. It suggests the arrival of the “age of man”, an era in which mankind will supposedly dominate the whole planet by technically mastering it, as if it were transformable into a device (Schwägerl 2010) – Gaia as a controllable machine?

So how, if the causes for the changes in nature and on the planet are totally different than the ones assumed normally?

What if nature, our planet, isn't changing on its own and is also not reacting to the general consequences of industrialization (carbon dioxide etc.), as we think, but rather being violently forced into change more and more in a very different manner?

What if the so called “age of man” is neither a whole era nor a time that will be dominated by mankind at all, but rather a short (end-)phase of human hybris on this planet, determined by a small group of omnipotent megalomaniacs that have declared themselves to be “gods in uniforms” who nobody dares question?

So what, if now was the time for a new “planetary consciousness” and a new sense of and willingness to take action, a time for the awareness about our planetary existence as a whole, the consciousness about our dependence on this vital earth, without having another choice? All of this embedded in a positive connectedness to the earth, yes, in a profound feeling of belonging and the knowledge of kinship with her. This kind of consciousness would be totally different than one intending to be divided from the planet trying to dominate her, wanting to overcome and to substitute Mother Earth as is characteristic for our modern age. It is more about the consciousness and feeling about the rediscovery of deep love for nature and Mother Earth, as opposed to an alienation from her. It is about being resolute in standing up for our planet in the knowledge that this is our basis of life, a Mother Earth that is not evading us, but that it is rather us who have turned away or allowed her to be withdrawn from us.

So what, if the earth turns out to have been subjugated and forced, and isn't the evil “step mother” we have been made to believe in modern times? What if she is our Mother Earth, loving us and nourishing us, but being massively prevented from doing so? In this case our attitude towards her and towards what needs to be accomplished will have to be a totally different one!

Instead of seeking shelter from her, we need to shelter her!

Instead of fearing her, we need to love her!

Instead of allowing her to be taken from us, we need to fight for a reunion with her!

It is precisely not nature and the earth that are our “enemies” but rather those, who try to convince us that it is so. They do so in order to be able to exert and extend their power without a question, jeopardizing our lives and the planet in doing so.

Where should we turn to, what do we have to learn to feel again, to see and to know, what conclusions can we draw, and can we reunite? How do we stand by her side again?

And what does that mean? What will it look like for her, for us, for the others, for everyone and all? How are we going to think, speak, and take action then? How will this recognition, this feeling, and this action connect to each other? What will we need, search for, and invent then?

Soon there will not be the possibility anymore of compliancy, denial of assistance, cowardice, of turning a blind eye or not listening, of keeping quiet or suppressing. The effects of our bad treatment of the planet are spreading rapidly. They concern everyone now, including the culprits of this ultimate phase of crime by patriarchy. If now finally it becomes transparent that there is a “Project of Destruction” for the earth and all life on it, that masquerades itself as a project of salvation while in reality the aim is to gain total control over and against life on the planet, then the outrage will find an expression that forges ahead. It will not be possible anymore to sweep this awareness under a rug because all the strength and energy will be on our side, addressing the most important instinct in us: our survival instinct.

We are whistleblowers! Those who warn about existing or nearing danger, feeling committed to nothing else than the ethics of life.

Therefore there is no alternative to a Planetary Movement for Mother Earth, its existence is essential, no matter what its success may be. It is the logical consequence and answer to and against what is really happening: an appeal to all, including the existing social movements, to join together and return to life and to earth, to rediscover the love of life and for the planet, to re-establish the best traditions of human culture, in opposition to the holders of power – operating and taking action without calculating gains, without having strategies, tactics or being deliberate, by just being here. It is as Gandhi said: “Violence is always a lie”, and to practice “ahimsa”, taking action without violence and in “innocence”, is the right thing to do. What a great and spiritual task to accomplish! This is what we need to work on, to attain clarity. This is a task we need to define, try out, and recognize even in conflict and practice daily.

The journey is its own reward, as we walk by asking questions, the Zapatistas say...
